DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The title of the invention is not commensurate with the scope of the invention. A new title is required that is clearly indicative that the claims are directed to both a method and apparatus. Further, the word "improved" should be removed from the title.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1 and 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cornette et al. (US 5,335,727).

The invention of Cornette et al. includes all the limitations of claims 1 and 4-6 including: a sleeve (41), a ball (82), a seating surface (64), the parts able to move independently downwardly in the well (see figures 3 and 5), the sleeve having an upper and lower end (figure 1), the sleeve having a central passage (43, 45, and 60), and the seating surface recessed inside the sleeve and the ball projecting beyond the seating surface (figure 5).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2 and 3 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cornette et al. (US 5,335,727) in view of Despax et al. (US 4,625,795) and Jennings (US 5,415,227).

As discussed above, Cornette et al. discloses the claimed invention except for teaching the sleeve being made of a titanium alloy and the ball being made of a titanium or silicon nitride alloy. Both titanium and silicon nitride are well-known to be strong and corrosion resistant, properties which would be advantageous when the materials are employed in wells. Further, Despax et al. teaches titanium used to make well sleeves (column 3, lines 45-46) while Jennings teaches the advantages of using silicon carbide in well tools (column 3, lines 36-43). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have used the titanium or silicon carbide described in claims 2 and 3 to form the ball and sleeve of Cornette et al., since the advantageous properties of both materials are well known and both materials are known to be used in the well arts, as taught by Despax et al. and Jennings.

Double Patenting

6. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

7. Claims 7, 8, and 10 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 and 2 of U.S. Patent No. 6,209,637 alone.

US Patent 6,209,637 discloses the claimed invention except for the specific plunger materials. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have used the materials described in claim 7 to form the plunger, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claim 9 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
9. Claims 11-15 are allowed.
